

1st Workshop for Early Career Women in Economic Geography and Spatial Economics

Keynote speakers

Raquel Ortega-Argilés
University of Manchester

The Department of Geography and Environment at LSE is excited to host the 1st Workshop for Early Career Women in Economic Geography and Spatial Economics (WECW-EGSE) on 12–13 May 2025. The workshop will be held in person on the London School of Economics and Political Science campus.

This one-and-a-half-day workshop aims to promote women-led research by inviting female scholars from the fields of Economic Geography and Spatial Economics. The workshop is open to advanced PhD students, fellows, and postdoctoral scholars. Participants will have the chance to network with other promising scholars, present their research, and receive valuable feedback from a departmental faculty discussant.

We invite applicants to submit extended abstracts (no more than two pages), including background and motivation, research objectives, data and methodology, key findings, and contributions of the work. Submissions will be reviewed by a scientific committee of faculty members from the Department of Geography and Environment.

To apply, send your extended abstract to e.renzullo@lse.ac.uk by 1st March. Follow these instructions for your submission:

- Use " WECW-EGSE " as the subject line.
- Specify your current position in the email.

Elisabet Viladecans-Marsal
Universitat de Barcelona

Applicants will be notified of their acceptance by 15th of March. No registration fees are required.

Organizers: Elena Renzullo and Riccardo Crescenzi

Scientific committee: Sara Bagagli, Eugenie Dogoau, Carolin Hulke, Elena Renzullo, Ana Varela-Varela

Workshop funded by a Re-Generate Grant by the Department of Geography and Environment (LSE)