

Offer Holder News September 2024

Dear Corinne,

Welcome to our last admissions newsletter, with a focus on Postgraduate Course Selection, final reminders and updates before we fully hand you over to your departments and the Student Services Centre.

If you have missed any of our previous issues, you can find them on this page.

We hope that you enjoy this month's issue, and look forward to welcoming you very soon.

Kind regards,

Graduate Admissions Office

Postgraduate Course Selection

Courses are open for browsing from 10am on Monday 23 September until Thursday 26 September. You will then be able to select courses from 10am on Thursday 26 September until 5pm on Friday 11 October.

Already completed campus enrolment?

Great! There is still information below you should read.

Offer Conditions/Outstanding documents

Please note that if your offer is conditional when you attend on-campus enrolment, you will be unable to enrol that day due to updates that must be made to our records. You should try to ensure that your offer is unconditional and that you have pre-enrolled before attending enrolment.

Admissions staff at enrolment will view your documents, and mark your conditions as met if your evidence is satisfactory, however, you must then wait for the system to update (usually overnight). You must then complete your pre-enrolment before you enrol in-person. If you are on a programme with any differing arrangements, you will have been informed this by your programme manager.

Get ready for Welcome!

We're looking forward to welcoming you to LSE next week, with a range of Welcome events and activities taking place, from 23–27 September. Find out what's happening across campus. See what's on

What other events are taking place in Autumn Term Week 1?

Outside of classes and seminars, there are lots of activities and events taking place. Our Welcome programme extends throughout Autumn Term – find out about what's on next week and beyond. LSE's public lecture series will continue to run throughout term – you can view all upcoming events on the LSE website and on the LSE Events page on the Student Hub.

You must complete your consent education, which includes an online course and an in-person workshop. You may also wish to take the self-study module Prepare to Learn at LSE to help you feel as prepared as possible for your studies.

Look after your health during your studies

If you are unwell, do not come on to campus - wait until you no longer have symptoms before returning. You can let your class teachers know that you are unwell if you miss any lectures or other classes.

Your health is important to us and should be a priority during your time at LSE. If you're not registered with a General Practice (GP), you can register with St Philips Medical Centre, the GP on LSE's campus. Register with St Philips

Reminder re: Disability and Mental Health Service

If you have a disability The Disability and Mental Health Service (DMHS) arranges adjustments and provides support for students who have a disability, long-term health condition, mental health condition, or Specific Learning Difficulty (SpLD).

We offer confidential advice and identify additional support you may need and share this with key LSE staff through 'My Adjustments'.

If you'd like to access this support, please either book an appointment with an adviser or email us at disability-wellbeing@lse.ac.uk and DMHS staff will get in touch with you.
