

Dear {!Contact.FirstName},

Exploring London

Did you know that London has been rated the best student city in the world for five years running? Over 100,000 international students choose to study in London each year. With such a large student population, there is no shortage of subsidised or free events taking place: run by students, for students!

As a GO LSE student, you're fully integrated into undergraduate life at LSE. This means you can take advantage of any of our 200+ Students' Union clubs and societies, which are the heart and soul of student life at the School. They cover a wide range of interests, such as sports, music, student media, cultures or languages, and everything in between (beekeeping, anyone?!)

LSE students have written blogs on their experience of exploring and acclimatising to the city; from joining student societies to having fun on a budget; from exploring London neighbourhoods, to navigating solo travel in Europe and, of course, blogs about food!

And don't worry, entry to lots of major attractions is completely free! This includes the British Museum, the Natural History Museum and the Tate Modern. You can also get student rates at popular attractions such as the London Zoo and the London Eye, and a free under-26 pass at the National Theatre.

UNiDAYS

Once you have access to your LSE email address, you can sign up to UNiDAYS, unlocking a world of student discounts

Buy a NUS TOTUM card

Buy a TOTUM card to get access to discounts with hundreds of retailers, as well as entertainment and travel

Student Oyster Card

A Student Oyster Card can save you 30% on London Underground and bus travel, making travel more affordable

If you haven't already, follow @LSE_GeneralCourse on Instagram to see more of student life in London, and @LSESU to keep up to date with the Students' Union.

Best wishes,

The GO LSE team

Diogo, Lauren, Mark, Rachel & Will
